We received good news from the District 27 Chair Barb Beers that four of the posters we submitted were winners in the “2019 Youth Poster Contest.” Lt Beers forwarded certificates for the winners and they will be presented when the students return to Epiphany School.

Lt Starr mailed the 1st place winning poster to be entered at the America’s Boating Conference in Louisville, KY in September. The posters are on D27 website, www.uspsd27.org.

It was a beautiful weekend for the D27 Rendezvous in Edenton on 21-23 June. Many Squadron members toured the Albemarle Carolina Classic Boat Co., enjoyed the reception at the Historic Penelope Barker House, participated in the flag ceremony on the waterfront and watched the Coast Guard MOB demonstration in the harbor. Chief Commander Gary Cheney and Edenton Mayor Roland Vaughan welcomed our D27 members. We had an afternoon of games, trolley tours and boat rides aboard the Liber-Tea and a delicious buffet dinner at the 1767 Chowan County Courthouse on Saturday evening.

The D27 Fall Council/Conference meeting of Titanic Proportions was promoted for the weekend of 11-13 October at the Hilton Garden Inn in Charlotte-Ayrsley, hosted by the America’s Boating Club of the Catawba. Registration information will be posted on D27 Website.

The America’s Boating Club of the Crystal Coast, Fort Macon Sail and Power Squadron, will have the 12th Aids to Navigation Cruise aboard the Carolina Princess, Saturday, 21 September 2019, Morehead City. The cost is $60 for USPS/ABC members and $75 for non-members. Seating is limited. Details and reservation form are available at www.abc-cc.org.

At our 15 July dinner meeting, our guest speaker, Michael Lee, from NOAA/Newport gave a very informative presentation and had many handouts regarding weather safety for the members.

P/C Jim Dugan will need volunteers for Bike MS on Saturday, Sept. 7, at Rest Stop 3, Florence-Whortonsville VFD25 from 7:30 am to 11:00 am. Please contact Jim at 252 637-5314 jimdugan@embarqmail.com if you can volunteer.

We will be hosting a booth at the New Bern Mum Fest the weekend of 12-13 October. Please let our Exec Officer, Lt/C Wayne Fretwell, know how you can help during Mum-Fest. Times needed are Friday, Oct. 11 at 5:30 to set up booth, Saturday Oct. 12 from 2:00 to 4:00 and 4:00 to 6:00 pm, and Sunday Oct. 12 from 10:00 am to noon and 2:00 pm to 4:00 pm. 4:00 pm Take down and return items to storage unit. Wayne can be reached at 252 288-4653 or waynief@hotmail.com. We will not have an Executive Committee meeting in August. We will meet again on 9 September at the Christ Episcopal Church Library at 7:00 pm. Have a safe summer.

Lt/C Wayne Fretwell, P

With the super hot weather forecast Lloyd decided that it would be better to cancel the raft-up to watch the July fourth fireworks. I hope you all had an enjoyable July fourth in spite of the heat and found a place to watch the fireworks if that's your thing.

For the past ten years Richard Tobacco chaired the MS-Bike lunch stop for CLSPS. In my June Outlook article I asked for a chairman for the Bike MS event as Richard was not able to do it this year. I got no response—while we were inactive other organizations filled all the positions for the rest stops. We still would like for us to participate in this year's Bike MS as this is a very worthwhile civic event. Participation will be on an individual basis by going to the Bike MS website (<https://secure.nationalmssociety.org>) selecting volunteer and give your information and choose from among the open positions for the various jobs need to make this year's Bike MS a success. Afterwards, let me know how you served so that I can give June the information for Merit Marks.

Mumfest will be held October 12 and 13 so we will need members to man our booth and talk with attendees about America's Boating Club and promote our ABC class. The class will meet October 26 and November 2 with on-the-water training on November 3 if you know of anyone who may be interested. There will be signup sheets for the various time slots at the July 15th and September 16th dinner meetings. Setup of our booth will be Friday October 11th so we need help with that. If I do not get a chairperson, I can use my truck to move the booth and materials to our site. However, because of my back problems I cannot do the light physical work required to set up the booth so I definitely need help with that. If you cannot get to either of the two meetings before Mumfest, you can sign up by calling me at 252-288-4653 or by an email to waynief@hotmail.com. I look forward to seeing you at our meetings or hearing from you regarding how you would like to help.

Drowning

The Instinctive Drowning Response, so named by Francesco A. Pia, Ph.D., is what people do to avoid actual or perceived suffocation in the water. And it does not look like most people expect it to. When someone is drowning there is very little splashing, and no waving or yelling or calling for help of any kind. To get an idea of just how quiet and undramatic drowning can be, consider this: It is the number two cause of accidental death in children age 15 and under (just behind vehicle accidents). Of the approximately 750 children who will drown next year, about 375 of them will do so within 25 yards of a parent or other adult. In 10 percent of those drownings, the adult will actually watch them do it, having no idea it is happening.

Drowning does not look like drowning. Dr. Pia, in an article he wrote for the Coast Guard's On Scene magazine, described the instinctive drowning response like this:

- Except in rare circumstances, drowning people are physiologically unable to call out for help. The respiratory system was designed for breathing. Speech is a secondary or overlaid function. Breathing must be fulfilled before speech occurs.
- Drowning people's mouths alternately sink below and reappear above the surface of the water. The mouths of drowning people are not above the surface of the water long enough for them to exhale, inhale and call out for help. When the drowning people's mouths are above the surface, they exhale and inhale quickly as their mouths start to sink below the surface of the water.

- Drowning people cannot wave for help. Nature instinctively forces them to extend their arms laterally and press down on the water's surface. Pressing down on the surface of the water permits drowning people to leverage their bodies so they can lift their mouths out of the water to breathe.
- Throughout the Instinctive Drowning Response, drowning people cannot voluntarily control their arm movements. Physiologically, drowning people who are struggling on the surface of the water cannot stop drowning and perform voluntary movements such as waving for help, moving toward a rescuer or reaching out for a piece of rescue equipment.
- From beginning to end of the Instinctive Drowning Response, people's bodies remain upright in the water, with no evidence of a supporting kick. Unless rescued by a trained lifeguard, these drowning people can only struggle on the surface of the water from 20 to 60 seconds before submersion occurs. (Source: On Scene magazine: Fall 2006 page 14)

This doesn't mean that a person who is yelling for help and thrashing isn't in real trouble — they are experiencing aquatic distress. Not always present before the instinctive drowning response, aquatic distress doesn't last long, but unlike true drowning, these victims can still assist in their own rescue. They can grab lifelines, reach for throw rings, etc.

Look for these other signs of drowning when persons are in the water:

- Head low in the water, mouth at water level
- Head tilted back with mouth open
- Eyes glassy and empty, unable to focus
- Eyes closed
- Hair over forehead or eyes
- Not using legs

- Hyperventilating or gasping
- Trying to swim in a particular direction but not making headway
- Trying to roll over onto the back
- Appears to be climbing an invisible ladder

So, if a crewmember falls overboard and everything looks okay, don't be too sure. Sometimes the most common indication that someone is drowning is that they don't look as if they're drowning. They may just look as if they are treading water and looking up at the deck. One way to be sure? Ask them, "Are you alright?" If they can answer at all, they probably are. If they return a blank stare, you may have less than 30 seconds to get to them. And parents — children playing in the water make noise. When they get quiet, you need to get to them and find out why.

Booster Club

Only a small portion (about $17) of our dues to USPS is returned to the Cape Lookout Squadron. Money collected from our members helps defray the cost of our Dinner Meeting speakers. We need help keeping our books in the Black. Please contribute to the Booster Club. Any amount is helpful, but $10 per person is a suggested amount.

BY-PRODUCTS OF MY ATTEMPT TO PROMOTE SAFETY

P/C WILLIAM J. ASH SN, H

Since 1961, I have considered education the top priority of USPS. Everything else is secondary in whatever order you choose to rank them. Picnics, dinners, buffets on the water, tea and crumpets on the foredeck and Long Island Cocktails for the Squadron's hardiest, are all tied for last place. That's the way it was with USPS and that's the way it is. Or is it?

After I published my last article in the Outlook, I received responses from persons outside the Squadron (I send copies to interested, experienced (?) mariners who are not members of Cape Lookout) and was I surprised at what I read. Fellows and gals, captains and first mates, boat yard workers and boating club members, times have changed. My thinking is not what other thinkers are thinking. Try these responses! Not one came from members of the Squadron.

'Sailboats don't have horns.' 'I've never been on a sailboat that had a horn.' And, another. 'People are not interested in horns and lights, so why write about them?' To these add this. 'Today's boater is not interested in horns, whistles or lights. Aides to navigation are complicated, so don't bother to confuse me at my stage in life.' So there you go, my good friends. What I thought would be a helpful bit to add to the Outlook turned out to be a fizzer. I have some serious decisions to make.

I'm still waiting for my catboat to be repaired and painted. Family Ash missed the milder days of spring during which a fairly comfortable short cruise could be taken. Now, the heat puts a clamp on afternoon sailing; I can't take the direct rays of the sun as I used to, so an early evening sail seems like the best bet. But, since the old cat is still undergoing cosmetics, I need not worry about any of this right now. The engine will be serviced just after we get the nod the boat is ready to be put back in the water.

"Hey, Horatio, I did not expect to see you here today. Good of you to come. I take it your Lydia survived the electrical storm we had early this morning. The rain woke me up; in fact I thought it was the wind blowing, but I realized, when I headed for the window to see what was happening, it was rain pouring down outside. Rather odd sensation, it was."

"P/C, we had lightening flashing like you wouldn't believe. It reminded me of some of the battles I'd been in over the years. It would not let up. And I'm happy you suggested the crew putting up the earth, as you called it, so if the lightning struck it would head down into the water. No, no, wait it was a cable leading to ground. I got it now."

"Perhaps I should write an article about lightning protection. Never mind, I'll get responses as, 'In my thirty-seven years of sailing I ain't never got hit by lightning, so don't start now.' Ah, I thought of a good one, 'Estimating the number of gnats swarming on board, while adrift.'"
